

A Citizen's Renunciation of Nuclear Weapons

Mindful of the extreme dangers and costs that nuclear weapons bring both to the world and to those who rely on them, and mindful of America's practical, moral and spiritual need to serve life rather than build instruments of death,

I, _____, a citizen of the United States of America, renounce, withdraw my citizen's consent for, and oppose any design, production, testing, planning for use, or use of nuclear weapons by the United States, against any nation, group, persons or person, at any time, and under any circumstances. I declare to my elected representatives and to all agencies of the United States government that if I die in an act of mass murder against the United States, I do not want further acts of mass murder committed in my name. I make this declaration in my own name and in the name of

_____.
